MEET THE HIGH-TECH FUTURE OF HIGH-RISE LIFTS

In partnership with one of the world's most respected high-rise lift manufacturer, Liftronic has co-developed state of the art technologies to meet the unique conditions of the Australian market.

Regenerative energy converters capture energy generated by the lift movement and redirects it back into the building power grid reducing power consumption and carbon emissions by up to 35%.

A Variable Voltage Variable Frequency Management System monitors the lift car load to increase travel speed and reduce wait time while maintaining low energy consumption.

The compact VVVF gearless traction motors, compact control panels, combined with "state of the art" magnetic synchronous door machines and architecturally designed foyer control units to accumulate substantial space savings.
